IRAN
THE PERSIAN EMPIRE AND ALEXANDER
SEPTEMBER 17 – OCTOBER 7, 2016
TOUR LEADER: DR JOHN TIDMARSH
Overview

Join us as we travel through the strikingly picturesque and dramatic landscapes of Iran and trace the footsteps of Alexander the Great through the heartland of the vast Persian empire.

Starting in Tehran we enter the world of the formidable Persian Empire destroyed by Alexander. We follow (but in reverse) Alexander’s path along the northern edge of the formidable Dasht-i Kavir salt desert (later to become one of the main branches of the Silk Route) as the Macedonian king desperately (and ultimately, in vain) pursued the defeated Darius and his kinsman Bessus.

We visit the great palaces of Persepolis and Pasargadae, the Achaemenid royal burial ground of Naqsh-i Rustam, and Hamadan; ancient Ecbatana where Alexander arranged for the execution of his old general Parmenio and mourned his closest companion, Hephaisteion.

We also explore the beautiful city of Bishapur, capital of the great Sassanian king Shapur I who attempted to emulate the conquests of his Achaemenid forebears. Then on to Isfahan, Pearl of Islam among whose earliest inhabitants were those Jews from Babylon freed by Cyrus the Great.

We have ample time to wander through and explore some of the finest and most picturesque cities in the Islamic world such as the fabled Mashhad, home to the tomb of the eighth Shiite Imam, Shiraz (“City of Nightingales and Roses”) and, above all, Isfahan.

The tour is enhanced by a series of talks and lectures by John Tidmarsh on Alexander’s campaigns, the mighty Persian Empire which he destroyed, and the opulent Hellenistic kingdoms which arose after his death.

Detailed Itinerary

All breakfasts included. Included lunches and dinners are indicated by the letters (L) and (D).

Saturday 17 September

Arrive in Tehran

Arrive into Tehran and transfer to our hotel. Meet your fellow travellers over dinner in the hotel this evening. (D)

Sunday 18 September

Tehran

Our touring today provides us with an overview of Iran’s history and culture, with visits to several of Tehran’s well-regarded museums. Our first visit is to the archaeology museum with its collection showcasing the ancient cultures of Iran, from its prehistory to Elamite and ancient Persia. Set in a 19th-century Qajar house, the glass and ceramics museum houses an extraordinary collection of works dating from the 4th millennium BC to the contemporary era. After a break for lunch we continue on to the Reza Abassi Museum. The museum has select examples of the finest artworks produced in Iran, including Achaemenid gold vessels and outstanding examples of early Islamic ceramics, calligraphy and miniatures. We gather this evening for our welcome dinner in a local restaurant. Overnight Tehran (B, L, D)

Monday 19 September

To Mashhad

We transfer to the airport this morning for our flight to Mashhad. Mashhad lies on the ancient silk route and is the second most populous city in Iran. For centuries Mashhad derived its wealth both from its favourable position on the east-west caravan routes between India and Iran and those running north-south between Central Asia and the Persian Gulf, and from the agricultural produce from the fertile valleys surrounding the city. Now of course its wealth has increased as a result of the millions of pilgrims who flock to the city annually. On arrival we have a brief orientation tour of the city before checking into our hotel. Dinner is in the hotel this evening. Overnight Mashhad (B, L, D)

Tuesday 20 September

Mashhad & Tus

Mashhad has long been a centre of pilgrimage but it was only under Safavid rule, when the Shi’ite faith was adopted as the nation’s religion, that it became the holiest city in Iran. This morning we visit the vast Haram-e Razavi, the shrine complex of Imam Reza, the eighth Shi’ite Imam who died in the village of Sanabad in 817 AD. The Imam was said to have been poisoned on the orders of the Abbasid Caliph Ma’mun who, nevertheless, buried him next to the tomb of his own father, the illustrious Harun al-Rashid. We explore the outer courtyards and visit the quirky collection in the main museum and the carpet museum. After lunch in a local restaurant we head to Tus where the celebrated 11th-century poet, Ferdosi is buried. We visit the old city walls and Gonbad-e Haruniyeh, a 14th-century domed brick mausoleum. Overnight Mashhad (B, L, D)
WEDNESDAY 21 SEPTEMBER
ROBAT-E SHARAF

Approximately two hour's drive from Mashhad is Robat-e Sharaf standing isolated in the desert landscape. Constructed under Sultan Sanjar in the early 12th century, this structure with its two courtyards (each with four iwans) within strong fortification walls served as both a royal mosque and caravanserai. Its strategic position on the Silk Route made it an important rest stop for travellers as indicated by the small mihrab to one side on the exterior walls, showing the direction of prayer to journey makers who arrived after the gates were closed. Our visit includes the inner courtyard, the central iwan, with its intricate brickwork façade that opens into a domed chamber flanked by two large and self-contained suites. We return to Mashhad this afternoon where dinner is at the hotel. Overnight Mashhad (B, L, D)

THURSDAY 22 SEPTEMBER
KALAT-E NADERI

Kalat is an elevated, isolated natural plateau in the Khorasan Mountains, edged with steep cliffs that transform it into an almost impenetrable natural fortress. Used as a defensive post since before the Achaemenid era it is the only fortress to withstand a siege by Tamerlane. We visit the Khoshid Palace built at the time of Nader Shah, the great military commander and ruler of Persia, to house the royal family. The cylindrical façade stands 20 metres high and houses 12 rooms decorated with paintings and ornamental plaster mouldings. The building also houses a small ethnology museum depicting local Khorasan village life. After lunch, there is time to explore further before returning to Mashhad where dinner is in the hotel or a local restaurant. Overnight Mashhad (B, L, D)

FRIDAY 23 SEPTEMBER
TO SHARUD

We depart by coach this morning for Bastam. After lunch in the town we visit the blue-tiled monastery complex of Bayazid-e Bastami, an influential ninth century Sufi philosopher. The site is made up of a mausoleum, mosque wall and minaret decorated with outstanding stucco motifs. We stay in nearby Shahrud this evening where dinner is in the hotel. Overnight Shahrud (B, L, D)

SATURDAY 24 SEPTEMBER
RETURN TO TEHRAN

Today's journey back to Tehran takes us to Damghan, a caravan town situated on the great desert plateau. The eight century Tarik Khana Mosque is one of the few in Iran built to reflect the Arab plan with an arcaded court, low thick columns, stuccoed brick and hypostyle prayer hall, differing greatly from the tiled, four iwan mosques we have encountered so far. Arriving in Tehran in the late afternoon there is time to relax before dinner in the hotel. Overnight Tehran (B, L, D)

SUNDAY 25 SEPTEMBER
GOLESTAN PALACE – CROWN JEWELS MUSEUM

This morning our focus is the Golestan Palace Complex, built by the 19th-
In the 19th century Qajar kings. Here we see the Marble Throne, an intricately carved ensemble of more than 65 pieces of stone, and a photographic exhibition of old Tehran. The afternoon is a highlight, with a visit to the Crown Jewels Museum. It showcases some of the magnificent jewellery belonging to the last kings of Iran, including the Darya-i Nur (Sea of Light), the largest uncut diamond in the world, and the ‘Globe of Jewels’, a map of the world in emerald, sapphire, ruby, and diamonds. Overnight Tehran (B, L, D)

MONDAY 26 SEPTEMBER
NIAVARAN PALACE

Today we head to Tehran’s northern suburbs to visit the Niavaran Palace, a historical and cultural complex consisting of five museums set among tree filled gardens. The palace traces its origins to a garden in Niavaran that was used as the summer residence of the Qajar rulers. The main Niavaran Palace, completed in 1968, was the primary residence of Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, the last Shah of Iran. We travel into the Alborz Mountains for lunch before we exploring the local area which has a cosmopolitan atmosphere, swanky shops and expensive houses. We return to the city where dinner is in the hotel or a local restaurant this evening. Overnight Tehran (B, L, D)

TUESDAY 27 SEPTEMBER
TO HAMADAN

We depart Tehran today and head south-west to Hamadan (ancient Ecbatana). En route we stop in Qazvin, the second capital of the Safavid Empire. Here we visit the Friday Mosque and the Qajar shrine of Zadeh Hossein. After a break for lunch we continue to Hamadan via the Median fort of Nush-e Jan, site of the earliest known Iranian fire temple. After checking into or hotel, we stop at the stone lion (Sang-e Shir) which is all that remains of a funerary monument to Hephaisteion, and Ganj Nameh, where we will see some excellent examples of ancient rock-cut inscriptions before continuing to our hotel. Overnight Hamadan (B, L, D)

WEDNESDAY 28 SEPTEMBER
HAGMATANA

Our focus today is the ancient Median and Achaemenid period fortress of Hagmatana, the capital of Medes and one of the capitals of the Achaemenid Empire. The museum here shows some fine archaeological finds including large amphorae, Acheamenid pillar bases and Parthian coffins. This afternoon we visit the Mausoleum of Esther, the Achaemenid Queen and wife of Xerxes and her uncle, Mordeccai, a site of pilgrimage for Iranian Jews. Overnight Hamadan (B, L, D)

THURSDAY 29 SEPTEMBER TO ISFAHAN

Departing Hamadan we make the approx 520km journey to Isfahan stopping at the small towns of Arak and Khomeyn, famous as the birth place of the leader of the Iranian Revolution, Ruhollah Khomeini. Arriving in Isfahan there is time to freshen up and relax before dinner in the hotel. Overnight Isfahan (B, L, D)
FRIDAY 30 SEPTEMBER
TOURING ISFAHAN

We spend a full day touring the beautiful city of Isfahan, the 17th century Safavid capital. Following the riverbank we survey three impressive bridges, the Sharestan Bridge with its eleven arches constructed from brick and stone in the 12th century, the Khaju Bridge perhaps the finest with two levels of terraced arcades and the Sio-Se Bridge one of the best examples of Safavid design. In the Armenian Quarter of Jolfa we see several churches, including the important Cathedral of Vank. After lunch, we explore the UNESCO World Heritage-listed Naqsh-e Jahan Square. From the elegant Sheikh Lotfallah Shrine to the grand Imam Mosque, no expense was spared to decorate this square. The Ali Qapu Palace had some of the best acoustics in the medieval world with its innovative music room. The grandest of the grand bazaars of Iran also originates in this square, with miles of shopping for those who can’t resist. Dinner is in a restaurant in the Maidan. Overnight Isfahan (B, L, D)

SATURDAY 1 OCTOBER
ISFAHAN

Our explorations continue at Chehel Sotun, a 17th-century garden palace of the Safavid kings built in the Achaemenid style. The unusual portico entrance to the palace has twenty columns: when reflected in the pool, the illusion of forty columns symbolises the forty days of mourning for the death of Mohammad’s grandson Hossein. The building’s historical wall paintings show the evolution of Iranian art and history. Before lunch we visit the Hasht Beshesh or “Eight Paradises” Palace, whose interior features impressive mosaics and moulded ceilings. The afternoon is at leisure or to shop in the bazaar. Overnight Isfahan (B, L, D)

SUNDAY 2 OCTOBER
AT LEISURE

Today is at leisure to further your explorations of Isfahan. Overnight Isfahan (B)

MONDAY 3 OCTOBER
PASARGADAE

We depart for Shiraz stopping at the archaeological site of Pasargadae on the way. Construction of the city was begun by Cyrus the Great, an enlightened ruler who wished to create a society in which the diverse cultures of each region were respected and promoted under Persian administration. Cyrus was killed in battle before his great city was finished and the site became his final resting place. Today we visit his tomb and the ruins of his nearby gardens and palaces which were plundered by Alexander. Continue to Shiraz and check into our hotel. Overnight Shiraz (B, L, D)

TUESDAY 4 OCTOBER
PERSEPOLIS

Persepolis, the best-preserved city of ancient Persia, is our destination today. Dating from the sixth century BC, Persepolis was the home of Darius, Xerxes, and the Achaemenid kings, who built Iran into a major power of the ancient world. No expense was spared on the detailed relief decoration that celebrated their achievements. On the way to Persepolis we visit the ancient fire temple Kab-e Zaratosht and the nearby royal tombs at Naqsh-e Rostam, as well as the coronation site of the Sassanian Kings at Naqsh-e Rajab. Overnight Shiraz (B, L, D)

WEDNESDAY 5 OCTOBER
BISHPAPUR

Today we visit the Sassanian city of Bishapur, built by Shapur I after he defeated three successive Roman Emperors and subsequently brought over 70,000 Roman captives to Iran to help construct his empire. The Temple of Anahita, the goddess associated with water, brought water from miles away and led through a series of underground channels (qanats) to the elegant subterranean temple. Shapur’s Palace had a Roman Mosaic Hall and a central court possibly covered by a dome. At Tang-e Chogan, on either side of a narrow gorge, there are six Sassanian rock-reliefs commemorating Shapur’s victories over the Romans and other adversaries. Returning to Shiraz the afternoon is at leisure. Overnight Shiraz (B, L, D)

THURSDAY 6 OCTOBER
AT LEISURE

Today is at leisure to enjoy Shiraz. This evening we gather for our farewell dinner. Overnight Shiraz (B, D)
